GHS FOOTBALL TEAM GEARS UP--Offensive linemen and returning letter winners Scott Hartman (senior), Chris Lehti (senior), Mark Andrus (senior), Jason Medler (junior), Shane Lovely (senior) and Ken Bindschatel (senior) are expected to lead the varsity Vikings this season under new coach Dave Larkin. Veteran line coaches Don Ferguson (34th season) and Mike Branch (27th season) are also on board to help Larkin's squad try to better 1990's 7-2 record. The Vikings open their season on Friday, September 6, at home against the Roscommon Bucks.

Local Students Take Advantage Of Opportunities KCC Creates

(Editor's note: On Friday, September 13, voters go to the polls to vote on a millage increase of 1 1/2 mills to Kirtland Community College. Following is the third in a series of articles about Kirtland; its graduates, students and employees; and its impact on the Crawford County community.)

Kirtland Community College gets its general fund revenues from state aid (42%), local taxes (20%), tuition and other fees (25%), and gifts and other fees (bookstore and cafeteria sales, for example) (13%). Any grant monies the college receives are for restricted purposes only and cannot be used for operational costs, said Kirtland president Dorothy Franke.

Although rising property taxes have been added to Kirtland's revenues over the years (in 1988-89 and 1989-90, rising SEV added an average additional $31,000 to their revenues each year) Franke said that amount was not enough to cover the school's increased expenses.

Energy costs alone last year increased by $28,000; health insurance jumped $65,000. Health insurance is expected to rise even more next year. Furthermore, said Franke, revenues from other funding sources have decreased—most notably state aid. Kirtland expected $2,209,000 last year, but was cut $22,000 in November and another $35,000 during winter semester. College officials fear that another $333,000 expected for the last quarter of this fiscal year will also be cut.

While rising costs have been passed on to the students (tuition rates have gone up more than 33% in two years), at $42 a credit hour they are now among the highest for community colleges in the state.

Franke said it is a concern that, as tuition rates rise, middle income students are the most severely affected, as low-income students have access to financial aid. The college does not feel it is in the best interest of the community to deny the middle class a college education, said the president.

Crawford County will suffer a variety of losses if the Kirtland millage fails, including the following:

The supply of nurses will be severely restricted, which will increase health costs dramatically.

The unemployed will not be prepared for jobs.

Policemen, auto technicians, manufacturing technologists, secretaries and date processing specialists will be in short supply.

Transfer course offerings will be restricted.

In-service training for business and industry will be curtailed.

Vocational funding for COOR will be cut back.

The Performing Artist Series has already been cut.

Cosmetology and automotive repair services will be more expensive and will eventually be curtailed.

Access to the library will no longer be free.

Hundreds of Crawford County residents have attended the Kirtland throughout the past 25 years. Four local residents who graduated recently share their perceptions of the school:

CHRIS HELTON ASSOCIATE OF ARTS ASSOCIATE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

When Chris Helton graduated from Grayling High School in 1987, he enrolled at Michigan State University, where he said he "felt like a number, not a name."

So after two years at the Big Ten school, Helton returned to his hometown to attend Kirtland. He received his associate of arts degree in 1990 and associate in business administration in 1991. This fall, he plans to attend Central Michigan University to earn a bachelor's degree in management information systems.

Helton enjoyed his two-year stint at Kirtland: "It was financially suitable to my needs, being close to home. I got a really good education. And it was fun. I was in the Student Senate for a year. I learned a lot there."

"It was a lot different from a four-year institution," said Helton, "because the classes are all smaller and the instructors are available and they know you by name. If you have any problems, they are there to help you."

"The college is well worth the millage," said Helton.

DAVID PETRIE ASSOCIATE DEGREE IN APPLIED SCIENCE

After David Petrie graduated from Grayling High School in 1981, he enrolled at Kirtland because "it was close to home and it's what I wanted to do at the time."

His wife, Kay Ely Petrie, also attended Kirtland's nursing program. She now works as a registered nurse at Grayling's Mercy Hospital.

Together, they reared a new baby and held full-time while attending classes full-time at Kirtland.

After he graduated from Kirtland in 1983, Petrie found a job as an auto technician at Scheer Motors in Grayling, where he handles the major mechanical work on all Chrysler products.

"I got my basics at Kirtland," said Petrie. "I still use those skills to this day. The teachers were good; there was up-to-date equipment; they were far enough ahead of their time so when I came into the real world, my training was up-to-date."

Petrie hopes to attend Ferris State University to earn his bachelor's degree in 1992.

Parents Concerned About DSS Education Proposal For Shawono

By Irene Pettyjohn

There was standing room only at the Crawford AuSable school board meeting on August 19 as approximately 50 parents crowded into the Grayling Middle School conference room.

Most came to express their concerns about the Department of Social Services' plan to shift the responsibility of educating the youths in their correctional centers from DSS to the school districts where the centers are located.

Anna McMillan gave board members copies of the August 19 Free Press article, in which DSS director of Child and Family Services Harold Gazan stated that although most of the DSS students would continue to be taught at the DSS institutions, some might be allowed to attend public schools.

"In today's article in the Free Press they talk about putting these students in our schools if approved by local DSS staff," said McMillan. "I want to know where each one of you stand on this should it come down to a decision about putting them in the local classrooms." She said she is not as concerned about the money issue regarding who is going to pay as she is in having Shawono youths in class with local students.

McMillan said when she spoke to Fred Woelmer, director for the Shawono Center, on Friday, August 16, he told her the youths from the Shawono Center would never be attending school with CASD children.

"Now, two days later, the director of DSS is saying they will be attending our schools," she said. "I don't want to see this for my child."

McMillan also questioned why downstate newspapers were publishing articles about the situation as early as August 2 and it took nearly a month before it was made known locally.

School superintendent Kent Reynolds said as soon as he became aware of the plan, he immediately called Senator John Pridnia's and Representative Ralph Ostling's offices, and lobbyists representing several state educational associations. He said not one person knew anything about the DSS plan. He said the board has still not heard anything from DSS.

Reynolds said he contacted C.O.O.R. superintendent Lyle Spaulding who is very concerned because both the Shawono Center and Camp Nokomis are located in the C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District. Spaulding in turn contacted acting superintendent of public instruction Gary Hawks who stated that the plan would never become reality. Hawks has since met with Gerald Miller, state director of Department of Social Services, and informed Miller that the Department of Education was not interested in the plan.

Reynolds said the Department of Education was not involved in the planning of this document, nor were any local school districts where the facilities are located.

"DSS has undergone a series of budget cuts and is looking for ways to reduce their budget without reducing their programs," said Reynolds. "By their own account they spend approximately $13,900,000 annually to educate youths under their care." He said DSS is interested in "shifting the cost" of educating institutionalized children, but not necessarily in eliminating their part in the function.

"They just don't want to pay for it," he said. "I believe the issue is who is going to pay, not where they are going to be educated." Reynolds said anyone who has worked with detention

South Branch River Hanging Called Suicide

The death of Barry Blake Hay, 25, of Warren, has been ruled a suicide by Crawford County Sheriff deputies. A fisherman reported a dead body near Canoe Harbor Campground in South Branch Twp. at 9:15 a.m. Saturday, August 24. Sheriff deputies found the man hanging from a tree along the river bank. After an investigation and autopsy, police said it was a suicide. DNR Conservation Officers from Grayling assisted in the investigation.

Population Growth In 1980s Spurs Need For Classrooms

Voters in the Crawford AuSable School District go to the polls on Wednesday, September 25, to vote on a combined bond issue/millage proposal to solve an overcrowding problem that has been growing since the 1980s.

The Classrooms For Kids Campaign committee has developed a series of issue papers to answer commonly asked questions regarding the two proposals. This is the third in an Avalanche series featuring bond/millage-related issues:

KID KRUNCH-THE REALITY

"The Crawford AuSable School District is out of space at the elementary schools and at the middle school," said Pauline Petrosky, committee chairperson. "More space is needed for children who are here today! Sixteen classrooms along with spaces for special services are needed now for students presently living in the district. An additional seven classrooms are needed for future growth."

All 25 classrooms at Grayling Elementary and 11 classrooms at Frederic Elementary are being used for kindergarten through 4th grade classes or for special education or remedial classes.

Speech therapy, social work, gifted and talented classes and other special services and assessments take place in storage areas. Hallways are used for tutoring by teacher aides and volunteers.

Class sizes for kindergarten average 25, 1st grades average 29, 2nd and 4th grades average over 30 and 3rd grades average 27.

Petrosky explained that four more classrooms are needed to bring the district average for grades 1-4 to the 25 recommended by the State of Michigan.

Two 4th grade classes, one 3rd grade class and one kindergarten class from the Grayling Elementary attendance area have been transferred to Frederic Elementary because there is no space for them in Grayling. All developmental kindergarten and primary room students attend Frederic Elementary.

Four more classrooms are needed to keep all Grayling attendance area kindergarten through 4th grade students in Grayling, said Petrosky.

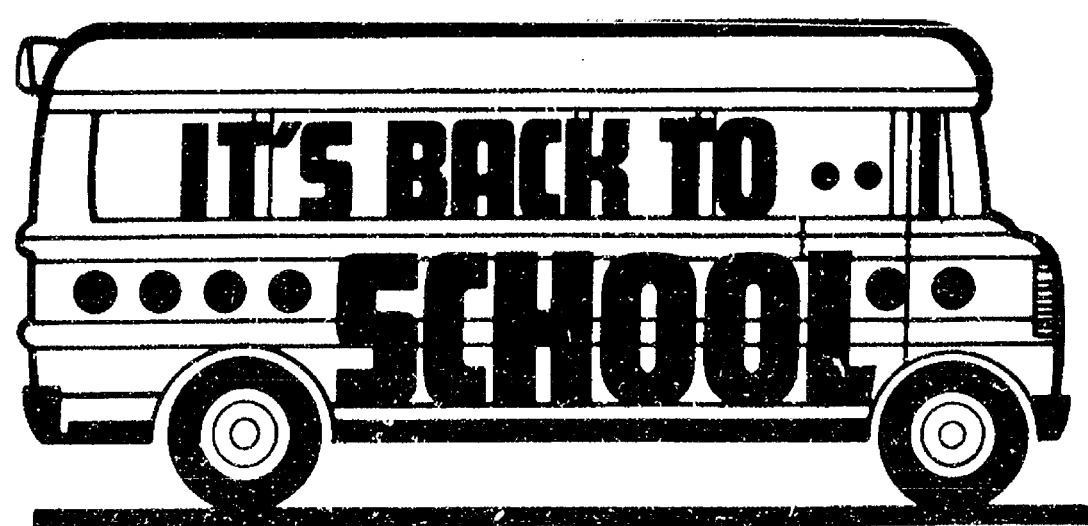

The preschool program for "at risk" four-year-olds funded by the State of Michigan is housed at Grayling High School. There is no space for this class in either elementary school building. One more classroom is needed for the preschool to be placed in an elementary school.

Every classroom is in use in the middle school. The building is rated for 600 students and will have 630 in the 1991-92 school year. When the students presently in grades 1-4 are in

JULIE BROOKS IN COSMETOLOGY ASSOCIATE IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Julie Brooks is one of eight cosmetologists at Grayling's A Cut Above who were trained at Kirtland Community College.

Brooks said in Kirtland's cosmetology program through COOR Intermediate School District when she was a senior at Grayling High School in the 1986-87 school year. She continued her course work throughout the summer and the following academic year.

She said that her experience at Kirtland was "really good. The teachers were always right there and very helpful. One of the best things is that it's so personal. You can talk with instructors if you have a problem; you don't feel left out."

Brooks said she was very well prepared for the cosmetology state board examination and all the Kirtland-trained cosmetologists taking their state boards seemed more prepared than those from other schools.

Mercy Hospital Will Continue Participating in Medicare Program

Mercy Hospital of Grayling has been notified that the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) has decided not to terminate Mercy as a Medicare participating hospital, according to Noreen Davis, Vice President of Operations at Patient Care Services. Medicare payments will continue to be paid to Mercy for treatment of persons covered by Medicare.

HCFA's decision not to terminate Mercy as a Medicare participant came after a resurvey of the hospital by the Michigan Department of Public Health (MDPH). HCFA had directed MDPH to resurvey the hospital to verify that the hospital had corrected "deficiencies" previously found by HCFA. MDPH found that all deficiencies had been corrected and that Mercy is in compliance with all requirements for participation in Medicare, Davis said.

"We were certain all along that our Medicare status would not change," stated Davis. "It's unfortunate that HCFA prematurely published a notice of Medicare termination in the local newspaper prior to the re-survey date."

"Medicare patients will see no changes in payment for their care and can rest assured that payments will continue to be paid for treatment at Mercy Hospital/Grayling in accordance with Medicare benefits," Davis added.

the middle school (1995-96), there will be more than 740 students. Seven more classrooms are needed for the 5th grade to be placed back at the elementary, said Petrosky.

The population of Crawford County grew by the largest percentage of any Michigan county during the 80s. If the present rate of growth continues, seven more classrooms will be needed for preschool through 5th grade, said Petrosky, bringing the total to 23 additional classrooms.

Education Proposal

center youths, like those at Shawono, know they don't belong at a high school.

"And we will take whatever legal measures are necessary to ensure that it doesn't happen," he stated.

Jim McMillan asked if Reynolds could give some concrete evidence of this before September 25.

Reynolds said unfortunately, the decision of who will pay, who will educate, and where they will be educated will not be made by local school districts.

"These decisions will be made in Lansing," he said. "Everyone here tonight should get out their letterhead and a 29¢ stamp and send a personal letter to Ralph Ostling, John Pridnia, and Governor Engler because that is where the decision will be made." Reynolds said politicians judge the sentiment in the field by the weight of their mail.

"All I can say is what I will do," said Reynolds, "and I'm not going to let them in."

Board president Chris Dunckley said the board has discussed the issue and the consensus is that nobody favors having Shawono Center residents attending the Grayling schools.

Johanna Jurkovich asked why, if the board has known about it for some time, they did not alert local residents so that letters could have been mailed earlier.

Reynolds said several members of the school board learned about the plan about a month ago, but that he received a copy of the DSS document only about a week before the article appeared in the Avalanche.

"It's obvious no one wants this to happen," said Jurkovich. "Not the school board, not the superintendent, and not the community. What we have to do now is come together and work together towards a common goal, and that is to prevent DSS from putting this problem on the local schools."

Reynolds told parents that an alternative proposal is being discussed in Lansing that would put the financial responsibility for educating incarcerated children on the school district that would have been responsible had the youth remained at home. Reynolds said he is sure there will eventually be some level of transfer of responsibility for educating these youths and that the Crawford AuSable School District could provide the educational program at Shawono, if necessary, as long as someone else is paying the bill.

Reynolds said most students living at detention facilities would qualify for special education, making the cost of educating each student more expensive than the average student. It is projected that the Shawono Center will pay $12,992 per student in 1991. The Crawford AuSable School District spends about $3,000 annually for each student.

Shawono Center is one of 11 detention centers owned by the state; the other 13 are privately owned facilities which the state contracts with to house state youths.

For those residents who would like to write their representatives in Lansing regarding this issue, the following are current addresses: Governor John Engler, Capitol Building, Lansing, MI, 48913; Representative Ralph Ostling, Michigan House of Representatives, Capitol Building, Lansing, MI, 48913; and State Senator John D. Pridnia, Michigan State Senate, Capitol Building, Lansing, MI, 48913.

MELISSA LANE ASSOCIATE IN APPLIED SECRETARIAL SCIENCE/LEGAL

secretarial program because the college was near home.

"The convenience of having it close meant it didn't cost as much," said Lane. "It was a new program when I began. I thought I would have to go to Flint for it."

Like the others, she speaks highly of the Kirtland instructors.

"The teachers try very hard to make your educational experience like it's going to be when you're in the work force. I had a 148-hour externship at a law office in Houghton Lake during the second year of the program."

"Kirtland is always changing to be geared to what employers are looking for now—taking away the old and putting in the new. It's wonderful. You need a college that's willing to change so the graduates are prepared."

She also liked the fact that the classes were small.

"It's not a university; there's not 150 in a class. The instructors are available to talk with you after class whenever you need to see them."

Lane appreciated the diversity of course offerings, which meant that "you come out very well-rounded."

In addition to her secretarial courses, she was required to take such classes as psychology, speech, government and English composition.

After graduation from Kirtland in 1988, Lane accepted a position as legal secretary in the law offices of William L. Carey in Grayling. She has lived in town for the past year and a half.

Former Patient Appreciates Staff At Mercy Hospital

I recently spent eight days in your Mercy Hospital, aptly named.

I was admitted as an emergency patient and was in the care of Dr. Ramaswamy and the excellent nursing and all the staff at Mercy. I couldn't have had better treatment.

Incidentally, hospital kitchens get a bad press. I thoroughly enjoyed the food at Mercy.

Your area is to be highly complimented on your fine hospital. I hope you will fully support it and appreciate your advantages.

P.S. I'm back home and fully recovered.

Local Resident Urges YES Vote For Kirtland Millage

I am writing to ask my friends, former students and all area residents to join with me in a "YES" vote for the upcoming millage for Kirtland Community College on September 13. As a Crawford County resident for 17 years and a part time instructor at Kirtland for ten of those years, I have had a direct opportunity to observe the benefits to the people and community of the Kirtland district.

This community college has provided an education to thousands of area young folks. It has given the unemployed new job-acquiring skills unavailable elsewhere. And it has provided retraining for older folks looking to improve their knowledge or learn about new fields.

Everywhere I go in this community I see friends, family and acquaintances who were educated at Kirtland. I believe that every one of us knows someone who went to school right here at our own community college. Many students, particularly in the nursing and law enforcement programs, have obtained jobs locally. Our local hospitals and nursing homes are staffed with nurses trained right here at Kirtland. My wife, known by many of you, is one of them. And I am aware of local law enforcement officers who also had the opportunity of being educated at Kirtland.

Our community college provides associate degrees in numerous job-getting skills and provides transfer programs for those going on to further their education elsewhere. My children have benefited from Kirtland and many of yours have also. You can imagine the good feeling instructors from Kirtland have when a student says, "I got a job because of what I learned at Kirtland." I have heard this many times over the years from former students and friends.

Some of you are concerned because many of the students can't get jobs in the local area. Because of this should we deny them an education? Absolutely not. Let's continue to give them the opportunity to benefit from their abilities by training them affordably, locally. You never know when you may benefit from a Kirtland trained student no matter where you are. I recently heard of a local resident who was hospitalized in Florida and was treated by a Kirtland trained nurse. As I talk to many people about the upcoming millage, I am surprised at the number of former Kirtland graduates that are in the community. I think many more stay, or return, than we realize.

This school matters, to me, to you, to all of us in the surrounding area. I know that the economy is not the best right now and none of us wants to have to pay any more taxes. But for the time being at least, that is how Kirtland obtains part of their funds. For the little bit it will cost each of us to keep Kirtland as we need it to remain, it is worth a small sacrifice elsewhere. Please join with me in voting YES in the upcoming millage election. Let's give this proven community college the whole hearted community support it has earned and deserves. We will all benefit. Thank you.

Reader Fearful If School Districts Required To Educate Young Offenders

This past weekend someone handed me an article from the Grand Rapids Press dated August 2, 1991, concerning the future education of 1,500 delinquents by local school districts. In the article, "Harold Gazan, director of DSS's Children and Family Services, said schools have both the legal mandate and the expertise to do the job."

Some quotes by the local superintendent, Kent Reynolds, were appropriate and relevant. "The one overriding question is who pays," said

Kent Reynolds, superintendent of the Crawford AuSable School District in northern Michigan. "But I think equally important is who's responsible for providing the service."

The state is reported as spending an average of $8,594 per person in its 11 training schools, compared to $3,000 per pupil spent in Crawford AuSable. Most important is the possible relationship between the students of Crawford AuSable schools and the 30 inmates of Camp Shawono who would be involved. These juvenile delinquents were convicted of serious felonies, such as homicide, assault and armed robbery, according to the article. No mention was made of the high percentage of inmates involved in sex abuse, either as victims or perpetrators.

Most parents will not want their youth involved in this kind of peer influence and pressure, not to speak of the danger. Every citizen of Crawford County will be directly or indirectly affected by this important decision. It is my understanding that few if any of these Camp Shawono inmates came originally from the Crawford County area.

Land Owner Critical Of Salling Dam Drawdown

As I watch the last of the giant northerns that once lived in Salling Pond being thrown unceremoniously onto the bank by opportunistic meat hunters, I can't help but reflect upon the events leading to this tragedy and feel concern for what lies ahead for a river that has forgiven us so many times in the last century.

Right from the start, the project was ill-conceived, with each faction touting its own selfish reasons why the dam should go or stay. The D.N.R., citing a greatly exaggerated dam safety concern; the troutiers, eager to flex their political muscle by subsidizing the project in a quest to satisfy their need to control and have access to every foot of land and water they can get their elitist hands on, with little or no concern for the destruction of our eco-system that, until now, was teeming with biological diversity.

For those of us living on the pond, the sadness of seeing our special place that once was a feeding ground for bald eagles, ospreys, otters, beavers, and migratory fowl, transformed into a desolate stump-studded mud flat, can only be matched by the feeling of betrayal at the hands of a bureaucracy spewing out one contradiction after another in a vain and almost comedic attempt to justify this assault on a peaceful sanctuary. Making dam repair impossible for residents by inflating costs and unrealistic regulations, the DNR bashed any hope for negotiation from the start. Litigation against the tax funded, state legal fat cats is financially impossible for us.

It is done, our pond is gone, and with it, the reason most of us came. Peace, tranquility, communion with nature. In a vain attempt at pacification, fish plantings have been planned. Just what we need, hoards of thrashing, littering intruders trespassing on the newly emerging and terribly unstable shoreline in search of barely minimum sized hatchery fed clones.

Thanks, boys, but no thanks. If you want to do something useful, provide us with seedlings and ground cover.

Help us restore the lifeless banks with natural structures to bring back the wildlife and river-bred trout. A little enforcement of the Natural Rivers Act regulations wouldn't hurt either. Violations are occurring constantly, right under your self-righteous noses, and some "less-than-conservation-minded" residents are not minding words about how they plan on extending their chemically fed lawns to the water's edge.

Swollen from recent rains, the pond is higher today and black choking silt is rolling over the boards. The silt traps are not doing their jobs. Mr. David Hale: You and your glad-handing henchmen have blown this one 'big time'!

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

This week let's talk about the old time lumberjacks and how he equipped himself for a winter in the camps. Let's talk first about his foot gear, three or four pair of light cotton or dress socks to wear under his wool socks. A few pair of wool socks and a pair of felts, a pair of shoe rubbers, and a pair of arctics pretty much took care of his feet.

When he dressed his feet for a day in the woods he first put on a pair of light socks, followed by a pair of wool socks; then came his felts; a pair of wool socks went over his felts and, if the weather was cold, the pair of shoe rubbers or, if warm and wet, a pair of arctics or overshoes had him ready for a day in the woods. Cold snow is not wet and unless it was warm enough to cause the snow to be wet, shoe rubbers were preferred.

A pair of cotton underwear went under the wool ones if possible, for woolies are like wearing a hair shirt causing itching that can drive you up a wall. A pair of wool pants staged off to almost mid-calf and narrowed down was next. The reason for pants' leg work was safety. Even the most skilled timber fallers might have a tree to do the unexpected and have to move quick. That was no time to have the cuff of your pants snag on some brush.

Wool shirt and sheep skin vest plus a heavy wool mackinaw that was laid aside when he got working, for the vest and shirt were warm enough then. A wool cap with ear flaps covered his head and of course choppers' mitts kept his hands warm. Choppers' mitts had a leather shell and wool inserts and were much warmer than gloves.

That pretty well equipped our lumberjack as far as clothing is concerned. For personal comfort a few books, tobacco, etc. might go into his pack. Musical instruments were always welcome to provide entertainment on those long winter nights.

I attended the Charron family reunion today and met some family members I had met before. It was great to get to sit down and talk to cousins I knew I had but just had not gotten a chance to know. I hope everyone enjoyed the day as much as I did.

The old man's back has gone back where it should be and walking and sitting is a pleasure again. That is one of the sure signs of growing old, when your back goes out more than you do. Of course I have a lot of other signs, like walking out to the kitchen to get something and forgetting what when I get there. My short term memory is really lousy, like having to look in the phone book if I want to call home.

I want to thank all of you nice folks who offered a kind word about my efforts when I was ready to hang it up. With so many nice folks pulling for me I will continue as long as I can. Thank You.

Pure political drama time nears

FOR PURE POLITICAL DRAMA, nothing these days beats the impending battle over the confirmation of Judge Clarence Thomas for the Supreme Court.

The U.S. Senate is scheduled to take up the Thomas nomination in mid-September. Meantime, the anti-Thomas and the pro-Thomas forces are loading their blunderbusses.

The fact that President George Bush, a Republican, nominated Judge Thomas, a black, for the court to succeed Justice Thurgood Marshall, another black, has put the formal leadership of black organizations in a bind.

They want another black justice on the high court, but they prefer someone in the Marshall mode—that is, doctrinaire traditional political liberal, especially in racial matters.

Judge Thomas is not that sort of person—at least, a review of his public life so far indicates as much. But he is black, and black officers holders at the Supreme Court level are few and far between. The chance has not come along very often in American public life for a black to assume so lofty a public position.

Ah, what to do. The horns of this particular dilemma are sharp indeed.

THE NAACP, CONGRESSIONAL Black Caucus and some other black organizations formally opposed Mr. Thomas' nomination. So do the UAW, AFL-CIO, NOW, and many other traditionally liberal organizations.

Leading the anti-Thomas forces is a coalition called the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, described as a group of 185 organizations representing minorities, women, labor, and the elderly.

To have 185 public groups in opposition is somewhat intimidating; the coalition includes the NAACP, UAW, AFL-CIO, etc., so they shouldn't be counted twice.

Perhaps significantly, it is not a united front. The National Urban League, for example, so far has stayed neutral in the Thomas struggle. And at least one local NAACP chapter—in Compton, Calif.—voted in Thomas' favor; censure by the parent NAACP was threatened but dropped.

IN SOME GROUPS which oppose Mr. Thomas, there is split opinion. The National Bar Association, composed of black attorneys, voted to oppose Judge Thomas; but the anti-Thomas vote was reported at 128-124, with a couple dozen abstentions. That's certainly not overwhelming disapproval.

One recent opinion poll indicated almost 60 percent of black Americans surveyed favored Mr. Thomas' appointment to the Supreme Court. Other polls are not as pro-Thomas... but none has come out anti-Thomas, either.

What's really going on here?

Part of the positioning is sincere apprehension over Mr. Thomas' views. But a greater part is pure politics, both partisan and organizational.

political activist, of the sort beloved by the traditional black organizations (such as the NAACP) and the traditional liberal white or mixed organizations (AFL-CIO, NOW, etc.).

Elevation of a Clarence Thomas to the Supreme Court sends a message to the rank and file members of the traditional liberal organizations that maybe their anointed leadership is out of step with reality. Prominence of a Clarence Thomas hints there may be a better way to move ahead in American society. The Clarence Thomas nomination is a threat.

On a straight partisan basis, the Thomas case is filled with politics.

Certainly President Bush and his Republican strategists knew what they were doing when they named a black Clarence Thomas to succeed Justice Marshall.

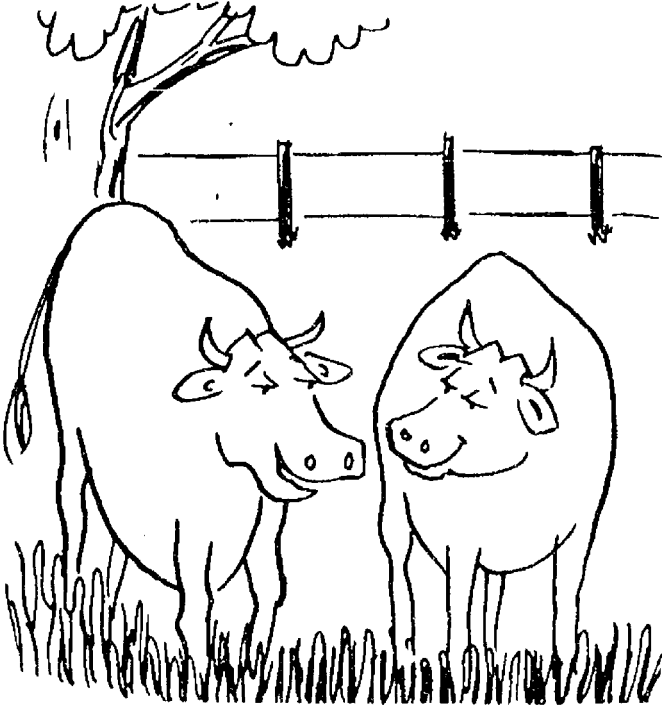

From a political perspective it's a win-win situation for Mr. Bush; if Mr. Thomas is confirmed, the Republicans win... if he's defeated, they win probably more. From a straight political standpoint, this has been a textbook appointment.

Fortunately, the man in the middle—Clarence Thomas—likely will make a good Supreme Court member.

After all, he is a minority survivor, who has experienced poverty and prejudice and has prospered in the American way of life.

These experiences certainly will influence his activities and his judgments on the Supreme Court. And what's wrong with that?

DIVERSE INVENTORY OF OUTDOOR GEAR FEATURED AT CARTWRIGHT & DANEWELL SALE

Cartwright & Danewell is not just canoes and kayaks. It is a complete specialty outdoor store that has been compared to the "biggest and the best," but that continues to function with an emphasis on customer satisfaction.

Cartwright & Danewell has many more items in the store today than it did six months ago. They have equipment, outdoor gear, and clothing people cannot find anywhere else in Michigan.

Many of these items will be on sale during Cartwright & Danewell's Mid-summer sales event from August 24 through September 1. Hosts Ellen and Mike Searles and Patti and Dana will be on hand to point out their special attractions that will be available for up to 40% off the manufacturer's suggested retail price. Customers will find savings on all canoes and kayaks with huge savings on some.

Cartwright & Danewell offers functional equipment with style and value to serve those in pursuit of silent sports, such as canoeing, kayaking, hiking and camping. It is owned and run by people who believe that quality is never expensive and human kind is not meant to sit, but rather to live life to its fullest through life sports, to enjoy the great outdoors—not only in one's younger years, but to the end of one's days.

Success at Cartwright & Danewell is measured by the number of satisfied customers who return again, and again, and again. Cartwright & Danewell's mailing list has grown since 1989 to include more than 3,500 names.

Comments by some of these satisfied customers include, "I don't need to bother with catalogs anymore since finding Cartwright & Danewell."

A downstate woman said, "I'm not going to tell people about L.L. Bean. I'll just send them to northern Michigan where they can visit Cartwright & Danewell."

One couple, taken by the store and its diverse inventory of outdoor equipment, compared Cartwright & Danewell, at 1,250 square feet, with a larger downstate outdoor store that has over 40,000 square feet, stating that Cartwright & Danewell has a larger selection and that everything in the store is functional.

Cartwright & Danewell's topographical maps serve a function as does all their clothing and equipment. Even their gifts serve a function. Their greeting cards uniquely express a meaningful thought that pertains to the outdoors and friendship.

Many businesses believe they must turn over their inventory every 90 to 120 days, but that is not the attitude of Cartwright & Danewell. Merchandise is stocked for long periods of time to ensure it is available when needed.

This winter Cartwright & Danewell is going to expand its cross country ski and snowshoe rental and sales, offering only the highest quality equipment.

"For Women Only," paddling classes taught by Anne Westlund, were one of the first instructional classes offered. This year three classes were held and filled each time. This summer a Land Navigation class was offered, taught by Steve Segar. Segar plans to be back this winter to teach a winter camping course. Next summer Cartwright & Danewell hopes to have renowned paddler Bob Foote here to teach both men and women to paddle.

More instructional classes will be offered, especially those which involve activities people are reluctant to try, either on their own or for the first time. These classes are open to the public, registration required.

An expansion program is nearly complete that includes a new 784 sq. ft. showroom that will allow Cartwright & Danewell to carry and display additional merchandise.

An inventory of more than 70 canoes and kayaks are also available on site.

Owner Mike Searles hopes to continue to enlarge Cartwright & Danewell, but never so big as to not be "warm and cozy."

Cartwright & Danewell will be expanding their line of children's books as well as their women's outdoor books. They are also planning to expand their paddle, hiking, and other general books.

Future plans include a building with various levels containing the best canoes set in the right places with ski, snowshoe, shoe, and outerwear departments, all under one roof.

Cartwright & Danewell is about helping people have fun...today and in the future, and at Cartwright & Danewell the future looks good.

EXPANSION—Their new showroom will allow Cartwright & Danewell to display an even greater volume of outdoor equipment and clothing.

CANOE & KAYAKS—Cartwright & Danewell stocks an inventory of more than 70 canoes and kayaks on site.

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free and reduced-price meals or free milk.

Application forms are sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school.

NON-FOOD STAMP HOUSEHOLDS: An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) monthly source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.); (2) names of all household members; (3) social security number of adult household member who signs the application; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

FOOD STAMP/AEDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, and sign the application.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals or milk for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy the Building Principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official: Paul Lerg, 403 Michigan, 348-7641. Each school and the Central Office have a copy of the complete policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

In the operation of the child feeding programs no child will be discriminated against on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Manistee River Restoration More Than Halfway Completed

Three work crews — representing the Crawford-Roscommon and Kalkaska Soil and Water Conservation Districts, together with Shawono Center — have been working on the Manistee River since early spring. Already this year they have controlled sediment delivery and stabilized damaged streambanks with fieldstone, dimension timber, cedar logs, seedlings, grass, and brush at 13 erosion sites in Crawford and Kalkaska counties. These accomplishments bring to 45 — of 87 inventoried — the number of such sites the Upper Manistee River Restoration Committee has repaired since mid-1989 on the Upper Manistee system above Sharon. Similar work at another six is (or soon will be) underway, with completion before winter anticipated. Ready for application next year, moreover, are engineering prescriptions by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and Mainstream Flow Group for treating erosion problems at yet 12 more sites.

The Committee also has made significant progress on other actions as well. Foremost among these is the repair of the horse crossing and related access points on Goose Creek Trail State Forest Campground west of Frederic. This work, by Mainstream Flow Group with funds from the Department of Natural Resources' Recreation Division, should be finished by early fall. Also worthy of note is the installation in June of two new sediment-retention traps in Portage Creek on Camp Grayling, and the reexcavation of one placed in the river's mainstream at Deward six years ago. Further, in cooperation with Great Lakes Gas Transmission Company, an earlier erosion problem at a pipeline crossing of the upper river in southern Otsego County was eliminated by streambank stabilization following entrenchment of another 36" pipeline in the existing corridor this June. Finally, the Committee continued its pursuit of a new bridge and stabilized approaches to curb the chronically serious sediment-delivery problem associated with Cameron Bridge Road in northwestern Crawford County. Re-application for a federal matching grant to underwrite a timberbridge replacement is being prepared.

Anyone desiring more information about the Committee and its work is invited to contact the Huron Pines Resource Conservation and Development Area Council in Grayling at (517) 348-9319.

KCC President Speaks at GPA

Dr. Dorothy Franke, president of Kirtland Community College, was the guest speaker at the Grayling Promotional Association meeting held on Tuesday noon, August 27, at the Copper Kettle. Dr. Franke spoke on the upcoming millage election on September 13, which will help to restore some of the programs at the college and insure that the programs will continue to operate. The college has operated on the same 1 mill that was voted in 25 years ago, and at today's inflationary prices, can no longer afford to operate on the same millage. It was a most informative talk and was enjoyed by the GPA members.

Remedies Offered For Skunk Odor Problems

Maybe it's happened already! If not, it might happen this fall. A run-in with a skunk and the resulting odor problems, that is.

Skunk odor is difficult to remove. Several commercial products are available to deal with it, but they are sometimes hard to find and they tend to mask the odor more than remove it. Look for them at stores that sell veterinary supplies, hunting supplies, sporting goods, and hardware.

Skunk odor results from an oily compound. It can be removed by methods used to remove oily soil. The odor molecule can also be destroyed with a weak acid.

Home remedies for removing skunk odor from clothing start by washing in a strong soap or detergent. Use products designed for the laundry, preferably ones that contain an amniotic surfactant. If the odor lingers, rinse several times with diluted white vinegar or lemon juice.

If the odorous clothing cannot be washed, use a solvent such as dry cleaning solvent. They are available in most grocery stores and some drugstores.

If you have articles that cannot be washed or dry-cleaned, such as shoes or leather belts, you can try burying them for several days in fine, dry soil, such as cat litter or sweeping compound.

If your pets have fallen victim to skunk odor, do not use laundry detergent. Detergents contain caution statements to avoid contact with the eyes or mucous membranes. Instead, use tomato juice or vinegar, which contain a mild acid, to wash away the odor. Tomato juice may be alternated with mouthwash, which contains flavoring and fragrance that are safe.

Exhibits Change At Local Museum

The Crawford County Historical Museum will be closing during the week after Labor Day. However, it is hoped that it will be able to remain open on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, during September and most of October. It will also be open on "Thank You, Grayling Day." So many local people have commented that they intend to visit and haven't done it. Now, with the arrival of Fall, it is a good time to come and browse for an hour or more. Exhibits are constantly being changed, more pictures are arriving and there is always something new to see. If you have not visited this summer, plan to do it soon! It's the best bargain in town for only one dollar. Where else can you visit two floors of a building, military museum, fire hall, trapper's cabin, and caboose for that price?

The class of 1926 has no composite. The first one was made in 1928. Our congratulations to them and to Ingeborg Hanson, '21, the only known member of her class to be recognized.

The composite of the Brady Family is hanging near the "School Room" at the museum... certainly not because of age, but because of importance. They were honored by us last year as the largest family to graduate from GHS.

Remember R.R. Burns as our School General? There were no shenanigans allowed! Cushman was our coach and had some good teams.

The Straightest Crooked Road

Now it's plain to see the love that I have,
For the woman with whom I walk the same path,
Down life's crooked road, from then until here,
And onto the future, for a good many years.
I love you, honey, you're my very best friend,
My life and my world, from now until then.
And now as we travel down life's crooked road
There will be some bumps, some detours, I'm told.
But you and me together, my dear,
We'll find the way along through the years.
Now you read the map and let me drive,
And together my love, we'll be sure to arrive,
Right on time, to each destination,
On life's crooked road, without reservation,
Now it's hard to tell what life holds in store,
So together, my love, we'll open the door,
Jump in the car and off we will roar.
Down life's crooked road,
To our destination,
Your map in your hand,
Without reservation,
And now, my love, when my journey is over
And comes to an end,
I want to finish with my very best friend.

Modern Myths

Modern myths upon which people look for meaning to life have left them morally and spiritually bankrupt. Some of the symptoms include, loneliness, guilt, self-alienation, a sense of inadequacy, a lack of direction in life, depression, apathy, sexual uncertainties, crises of identity, fear and phobias, a lack of peace and joy and a general sense of insecurity. Enlightenment names from the 19th century identified with some of these most important myths include Marx, Darwin, and Freud. Marx provided the roots of political and economic thinking which resulted in the communism of Lenin and Stalin. Darwin gave us the theory of evolution which separated man from his creator, his self esteem and his purpose in life. Freud opened the door of psychology and offered man freedom from his sexual guilt, fear, and uncertainty which was blamed upon past religious puritanism. Liberated sex has freed the mind to think about AIDS, herpes, divorce, homosexuality, abortion, and other fruits of promiscuous sex.

Consumer oriented-materialism has left us with depleted natural resources and global pollution. Increased wars, terrorism, and violence seriously question the liberal theory of man's basic goodness. Madness is no longer considered to be a disease in the conventional sense, but is a potential residing in every human being.

Religious discussion relative to truth or error has been a taboo. The simplistic deception that we are all going to heaven in our own ways has camouflaged the religious evils of our generation. We witnessed the "Jonestown Massacre" under the leadership of "the Reverend" Jim Jones. We observed the "psychedelic satanism" of Charles Manson. Worse yet, we watched as modernistic liberals raised millions of dollars to support communist terrorists in third world countries in the name of liberation theology. Is it any wonder some people turn nihilistic and believe in nothing?

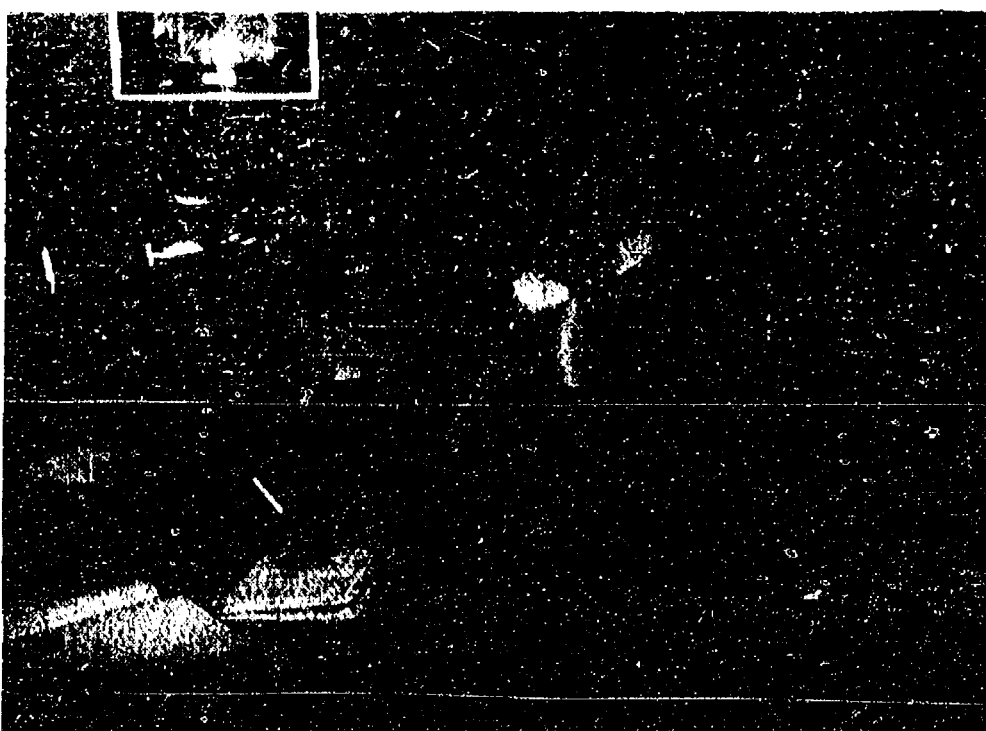

Any return to true faith in God and the Bible must be seen as more than nostalgia or a desire to mythologise our past. Polls indicate that the American public has more faith than their religious leaders in the traditional values upon which our culture was founded. For nearly 20 years we have publicly preached and printed the Word of God in Grayling, applying it to every subject or topic in life. We at Calvary Baptist Church are not ashamed of a single book, chapter, or verse in the authorized English Bible. It has weathered the centuries of time and the ridicule and attacks of all critics. While His people may fail, God's person, work, and word never fail! We still believe the same Bible, sing the same old hymns of faith, trust the same shed blood of Christ on the same old rugged Cross, and are led by the same Holy Spirit as our forefathers have been for generations before us. If you have discovered no meaning in your present life, may we invite you to join us in the worship of the triune God. "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever." (Heb. 13:8).

"I CAN DO ALL THINGS"

As shorter days lead into cooler nights, and summer vacations are behind us, it is back to work... business as usual... with one exception...

Labor Day... our annual "mini-vacation"... an opportunity to enjoy the luxury of sleeping late on a workday, and a chance to soak up some end-of-summer sun.

Cast your eyes in all directions. Above us are construction workers erecting skyscrapers. In other structures nearby, minds and machines whirl... our executive and clerical strength in action. Below us are those who labor underground as they mine our natural resources; and all around us is our labor force, giving of strength and intellect, compassion and courage.

Reward yourselves on Labor Day, your day, for the tasks you perform and the services you render each day. Moreover, may we remember to give thanks to God as we worship Him on His day, each Sabbath; for our Heavenly Father has blessed us with those resources with which we labor throughout the year.

As you daily endeavor to give of your best, may your strength remain constant as you affirm, "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me." (Phil. 4:14)

Doodles From The Tall Timber

By Wendell Hoover Hartwick Pines Interpreter

One evening this last week, I stood out in the yard and watched the nighthawks swooping and wheeling over the open field across the road. By the way they were flying, it was obvious it wasn't for pleasure. The common nighthawk is classed as a goatsucker, but don't ask me why. Nighthawks are considered nocturnal, but his is misleading, as they often fly in the sunlight.

They feed primarily upon nocturnal insects and their appetite is something else. One bird captured over 500 mosquitoes; another, 2,175 flying ants; another ate 60 grasshoppers; and still another was full of fire flies. All of this is caught on the wing, which explains the aerial acrobatics they engage in.

A nighthawk is only nine to ten inches long (about the size of a bluejay). Their long, pointed wings, with white patches toward the ends, are a good way to identify them in flight. They are seldom seen during the day, because they perch lengthwise on branches and limbs, where their grayish coloration helps them blend in. They do not build a nest, but lay their eggs on open ground, on graveled roofs in the city, in open spaces in fields, or along roads.

I would suggest you enjoy their presence while you can, because it won't be long before they head for their winter ranges from Colombia to Argentina.

The Meadows Of Grayling News

By Kathy Gillon, Activity Director

Tuesday was another busy day here at the Meadows. Volunteer Jeanette Kelts from Roscommon VFW Auxiliary 4159 was on hand for crafts. The residents decorated small straw hats using hand made pompons and lots of imagination. While making the pompons, our ladies reminisced how they had made and used pompons for different projects, especially for their children.

While several ladies were busy with the craft project some friends stopped by to do a little entertaining. Marcia Noeorr and Martha Cook brought in sheet music and harmonized to many inspiring gospel songs as well as tunes like "Wind Beneath My Wings" and Sesame Street favorite, "Sing a Song."

These ladies have been singing together for about 12 years and the music they make truly is first rate. They say they have entertained at several places and hopefully we will now be included as one of their regular places to visit. Everyone was captivated and some even sang along. The world needs more Marcias and Marthas to share their talent with our elderly.

Wednesday was our monthly birthday party, with all the August included. Those having birthdays were: Alta Wiley, Robert Burk, Frances Cramton, Donna Harrison, Paula Huss, Ethel Horning, Jack Kaiser, Margot Matson, Bill Owens, and celebrating her "101st" was Irene Dean. A large cake was shared and served by ladies from Grayling VFW Auxiliary 3736. Everyone had a great time.

Memories of Crawford County from the pages of the Avalanche

23 Years Ago August 29, 1968

Daniel P. Alef of Lake Margrethe, read in the paper about the $1,000,000 W.O. Hildebrand Endowment Fund for insurance education at the University of Michigan.

Hildebrand, now partially retired after 30 years' service as first full-time Insurance Agents of Michigan, lives nearby. Daniel decided to go over and contribute half of his week's income to the fund.

Daniel is nine years old, and half of his income is one dollar. He delivered the money in person.

Nelson A. Miles recently moved his law office from Birmingham to Grayling, and is located in the Cornell Realty Building at 306 State Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles have been summer residents on the AuSable River about two miles east of Grayling for about ten years.

Eric Post of Post Oil Co. announced today the leasing of the business of the Gulf Station on I-75 Business Loop South to Tom Latuszek.

The business name of the new venture will be Tom's Gulf Service and he will carry a complete line of Gulf products.

Tom is married to the former Sharon Bicsak and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Latuszek.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Papendick recently returned home from a two-month vacation, spent in Alaska and touring the western states, British Columbia and the Yukon.

Dick Huber has resigned his position as A&P manager and is now working at Con Site with the Michigan National Guard. Marcus Spitz of Warren is the new store manager, who has been with the company 24 years, and has been in charge of a Detroit store.

LeRoy and Virginia Millikin and Marcy took Luella to stay with her sister Connie Schiff in Detroit while Luella is attending State College of Beauty there. Luella started school Tuesday. The Millikins returned home Monday. Roy is getting along well although will be a few weeks yet recovering from broken bones in his foot.

The G.D. McCarvers are building a home in the Wildwood area on the North Down River Road. Mrs. McCarver and children Jim and Virginia have been here since June at the home of his father, and were joined by her husband, who is now working at Bear Archery in the sanding department. They hope to move into their new home this week. The family came here from Virginia Beach, VA, where he has been in the armed services for 20 years.

(Editor's note for regular readers of 23 years ago: The incomplete item published last week saying "And a party was held at the Camp Grayling Officers Club in honor of" was part of a clue in this year's Lake Margrethe Treasure Hunt and was intended to be printed that way. All the other news in this column comes from stories in the Avalanche on the dates listed.)

PREVENT UNWANTED LITTERS—Almost weekly, litters of unwanted puppies, like this one, are brought to the Crawford County Animal Shelter in hopes that people wanting a pet will adopt them. But puppies cannot stay indefinitely at the shelter. Those that cannot be placed are eventually "put to sleep" and taken to the Crawford/Otsego Landfill for disposal. How much more humane it would be if pet owners would act responsibly and have their pets spayed or neutered and prevent the proliferation of these unwanted puppies. Shelter hours are Monday through Friday from 1-3 p.m. and on weekends from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Pet Care Tip

Keep your pets away from pavements—which could burn their footpads—during the hot summer months, advises the Animal Protection Institute of America.

The API also says that dogs cool themselves by panting. They don't perspire as humans do. When your pet's tongue hangs out, that means the animal is cooling off.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

Distorted Views

I watch the falling drops of rain
As they streak across my window pane
And my view of things I usually see
Becomes all distorted now to me

The headlights of a passing car
Are just a blob of bright viewed from afar
Trees and bushes just blobs of green
As through my window pane they're seen

Then the thought enters my old mind
That here's dilemma of a different kind
Would my view of the world be the same
If I only saw it through a streaked window pane

Would I believe what others said
Or believe the images in my own head
That the things I had seen with my own two eyes
Could be wrong, would I ever realize

Now there's a lot of arguments every day
By folks who don't see things the same way
Each is so very sure they're right
Those arguments can turn into a fight

So just because we don't all agree
When we describe exactly what we see
It doesn't mean one of us is weak in the brain
Could be one is looking through a streaked window pane

So show more tolerance to another's view
He could be wrong, but so could you
For maybe the things you see so plain
You're viewing through a streaked window pane

Donors Needed At Sept. 4 Blood Drive

Every time you hear a police or ambulance siren, or read or hear accident reports over the coming Labor Day weekend, will you be aware of the use and need for blood?

There has been and still is a blood shortage. By the time this last busy weekend of summer is over, the blood supply will be critically low.

On Wednesday, September 4, the Crawford County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have a blood drive, from 12 noon to 5:45 p.m. at the American Legion in Grayling.

The response of the regular donors plus some first time donors will be needed in order to help replenish the blood supply in the Wolverine Region. Red Cross donors must be at least 17 years old, in good health, and weigh at least 110 pounds.

There were two first-time donors at the July 3 blood drive: Rena Neilson and Alice Foley.

1000th PATIENT--The Quick Care Clinic in Grayling at 1009 N. Down River Rd. surprised its 1000th patient, Jeanne Olszewski, with a gift celebrating the occasion. Dr. Nestor Guño, left, presents Olszewski with a bottle of champagne with staff members Shelly McGowan, Kal Murray, and Judy Kapets looking on. The clinic for minor emergency medical care opened April 29, 1991, and its hours are 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Sunday.

Local Motion Seeks Teams

The Crawford County Chapter of the American Cancer Society is sponsoring the 2nd Annual Local Motion at Hanson Hills on Saturday, September 7, from 8 a.m. until 12 noon, with registration beginning at 7 a.m.

This is a fun event where teams with four to ten members walk, run, and exercise in a relay fashion. While one team member is in motion, other members can enjoy face painting, snacks, games, puzzles, and a variety of other activities.

Team members seek sponsorships rather than pledges. A minimum of $10 from sponsors is requested from each participant and each team member is encouraged to raise as much money as possible. The sponsorship money is turned in prior to the starting whistle at 8 a.m. on the day of the event.

All participants receive a Local Motion t-shirt and lunch following the event. Teams must complete four continuous hours of motion to be eligible for other prizes. Individual prizes are determined by sponsorship dollars, beginning at $50, and the value and quality increase as the sponsorship money increases.

This is an opportunity to assist in the fight against cancer in a relatively painless, absolutely healthy and definitely enjoyable way.

Families, businesses, clubs, churches, and school groups are encouraged to get teams organized and register with Vickie Green (348-5407), or Betsey Mitchell (348-8624) by August 24.

Don't be left home alone. Join the fun at Hanson Hills on September 7. Contact Cindy Olson (348-5010) for further information.
